DEATH'S HARVEST.

Aged Minister Dead.

NASHVILLE, April 10.—Rev. W. G. Dorris died at his residence, two miles east of Saundersville, Sumner County, Sunday morning.

Mr. Dorris was born in Sumner County, May 6, 1815, and with his father came to Nashville in 1835. He afterward went to Decatur, Ala., where he engaged in mercantile pursuits. While there he professed religion and in 1849 joined the Tennessee Conference at Shelbyville. From this time until about eight years ago he was actively engaged as a Methodist minister. He was appointed to the most important charges in the conference. Of the local churches he was pastor of McKendree, Elm-street and Hobson's Chapel. At the last conference, held in Columbia in October, 1899, a notable event was the sermon he preached on the fiftieth anniversary of his admission as a member.

In point of years he was the oldest member of the conference, and in point of membership was the oldest with two exceptions—Rev. B. F. Ferrell, now in the 82nd year of his age and living on an adjoining farm, and the Rev. L. D. Bryan, who resides on the Murfreesboro turnpike near this city.

Mrs. M. L. Irwin.

Mrs. M. L. Irwin entered into life eternal Monday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Lavender, on Thirteenth street. Deceased was fifty-six years of age, and had been in ill health for some time. She was a pure Christian woman, living as her Master would have her live, and dying in the hope of a life beyond the grave. She leaves surviving her one daughter, Mrs. Lavender, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. W. T. Usery, Messrs. W. N. P. D. and S. L. Wright. The funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the South Columbia Methodist church by Rev. J. F. Beasley, assisted by Rev. A. P. McFerrin, and the remains were interred in Rose Hill cemetery, the following named gentlemen acting as pall-bearers: Messrs. W. D. Cameron, John H. Thomas, Henry Frierson, W. A. Quarterman, Thomas Stewart and Frank Cox.

J. S. Jones.

Mr. J. S. Jones died suddenly at his home near Cross Bridges Wednesday, having attained the age of seventy-two years. Mr. Jones was out at work on the farm, when, it is supposed, he ruptured a blood vessel, and died a few minutes after being carried to the house. The funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church at Santa Fe Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Revs. Hight and Fitzgerald, and the burial was in the graveyard at that place. Deceased leaves surviving him a wife and two children—Miss Susie Jones, and Mr. Starling Jones of Texas.

The infant child of Mr. W. A. Dale died Saturday afternoon at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dale, on Sixth street, aged about five months. The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the residence by Revs. F. B. Webb and Baker P. Lee, and the little form was placed beneath the sod in Rose Hill cemetery. The bereaved father, who only a short time ago sustained the loss of his fair young companion, has the deepest sympathy of many friends in this sad hour of his bereavement.

Charley Bennett.

Charley Bennett died Tuesday afternoon at the home of his uncle, Mr. J. F. Wiley, on South Main street, aged thirty years, after a long illness. The funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence by Rev. F. B. Webb, and the interment was in Rose Hill cemetery. Deceased was the grandson of Prof. O. H. P. Bennett, and had a large family connection. He had many friends who regret his untimely death.

William Skelly.

Mr. William Skelly died Sunday morning at his home near Theta, aged 45 years. The funeral services were conducted at Cave Springs Christian Church Monday at noon by Elder John Trimble, and the interment was in the churchyard at that place. Deceased leaves a wife and several children.

TO THE FARMERS.

While exhibiting the D. Y. Hallock & Sons' Success

Anti-Clog Weeder and Cultivator

in Columbia on April 2nd, I met with two parties who have used this implement.

Mr. Clawson, of Williamson county, says that after using three of the 7 1/2-foot walkers for three years, he would hardly know how to farm without this implement. He said that the 9-foot rider that I exhibited would pay for itself in two weeks on a respectable size farm.

Mr. Selk, who lives on the old Dunlap place, near Spring Hill, owns one of the small 7 1/2-foot walkers, and told me he raised a good corn crop last year, and that he did not use any other implement in his corn crop; not even a double shovel.

Mr. Meroney, of Dark's Station, when looking at the Hallock, said that he had used a Bred's Weeder for six years, and was well pleased with it, but it did not compare with the Hallock, and that he did not know of but one objection that any one who bought the Hallock could have to it, and that would be that he did not purchase it sooner.

Now, farmers, don't wait until the time comes to use the Weeder and Cultivator, and then expect to get one in a day or two, for I tell you it will take fourteen days to get one from the factory. So, don't delay, but give your order for one at once, so it will be here by the time your corn and potatoes are ready to receive the best working you can possibly give them.

Remember you can cultivate with one-horse rider 15 to 20 acres a day, equal to four double-shovels or two cultivators, and with a two-horse rider, 35 to 40 acres per day, equal to 8 double-shovels or four cultivators. Just think of what you save! A. F. Brown, Agt.
